THE CLIMATE CHANGE LIE

core message

Climate change is not the central problem humanity faces, nor is greenhouse gas pollution from fossil fuels its sole culprit.

Toxic overshoot is the heart of the beast. The exponential growth of techno-industrial civilization, enabled by fossil fuels, has resulted in a dramatic alteration of the natural composition of the planet and our bodies.

THE "OVERSHOOT" PART

- Overpopulation and consumption: too many people, consuming and polluting too much, has exceeded the Earth's carrying capacity. We're using natural resources faster than the Earth can regenerate them and polluting beyond her capacity to assimilate it, in the process displacing and extinguishing other species.

THE "TOXIC" PART

Beyond the normal ecological damage from overshoot is a life-destroying web of manmade toxicity. Two major culprits, used to weaken and manipulate us, are:

- Electromagnetic pollution—irradiation of a) the upper atmosphere through ionospheric heating and b) the terrestrial biosphere through low and radio frequencies omnipresent in the techno-industrial landscape, resulting in radiation exposure one billion trillion times greater than the natural background level
- Chemically based weather modification from cloud seeding and chemtrails

THE CLEAN ENERGY LIE

"Renewable" energy is anything but clean and green. Solar panels, high-tech wind turbines, hydrogen cells, nuclear, large-scale hydropower, etc.:

- Are impossible to build and maintain without non-renewable fossil energy.
- Require non-renewable metals and minerals that have been vastly depleted and whose extraction entails enormous ecological destruction and social injustices.
- Have short life spans, necessitating continual replacement, generating tons of waste in the process. (Neither the waste nor the metals problems can be waved away by the mythical wand of the industrial circular economy).
- Barely generate surplus energy beyond what it takes to build, distribute, and decommission them.
- Only generate electricity, posing a massive problem since a) only one-fifth of global energy consumption is in the form of electricity and no viable alternatives exist to electrify the rest, and b) the all-but-unrecognized pathogenic nature of modern electricity means that it should be phased out, not expanded.

THE CLEAN ENERGY TRUTH

REALgnd explores genuine sustainable energy alternatives, along with corresponding societal changes, in its energy transformation plan, The PallasCeres Report, and research paper, A New Earth Synthesis.

What's clear is that tweaks at the fringes won't work. Overpopulated, war-based, techno-industrial society is a destructive endeavor that has to be fundamentally changed.

Since every aspect of life is made possible by fossil fuels, life without them will look entirely different. We need:

- far fewer people (arrived at humanely using the perfectly ethical tools proven out during the golden era of the family planning revolution),
- living far more harmoniously with the Earth,
- reclaiming spirit, the heart, and the sacred,
- reconceptualizing energy and moving into higher levels of its use and expression.
